TREE-TOP RESCUE. A tree trimmer, knocked unconscious when he came in contact with a 4,000-volt power line, dangles by his safety belt about 30 feet in the air at Omaha, Neb., while two rescuers give what help they can while waiting for the power to be shut off. The tree trimmer, James Emery, 28, is at upper left. Helping support him is Fire Department Rescue Squad Captain Ed Thilliander (white shirt). Carl Barowski, another tree trimmer, gives support with a pole from another tree. All three men are of Omaha. Emery regained consciousness while still in the tree and was in danger of contacting the live wire again while threshing around in pain. He was hospitalized with burns but was reported in good condition.

U.S. Sabrejets Down 2 MIGs

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets—flying double duty as fighters and bombers—today shot down two Communist MIGs and smashed a big Red troop concentration center in Korea.

Thirty-six sleek, swept-wing Sabres, in one of their biggest strikes as fighter-bombers, flattened 45 buildings in a troop concentration area near the Panmunjom truce conference site the Air Force said.

The attack followed by a few hours low-level sky battles deep in Northwest Korea which sent two Russian-built MIGs spinning to earth.

2 Americans In Air Crash Fatal to 18

Indian Airliner Falls in Flames Near New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—An Air India C47 transport plane crashed in flames early today carrying 18 persons to their deaths. The victims included two Americans—one, a school teacher whose two companions died a week ago in another tragic air crash.

The two American victims were identified as Miss Pauline Lehman, 26, of Mountain Lake, Minn., and Ramchand Watumull, 40, of Honolulu, an Indian-born member of a wealthy Hawaiian family.

Their two-engined plane went down shortly after it took off here into a summer monsoon storm on a routine five-hour flight to Bombay. The crash came within a week after 43 persons, including three Americans, died last Saturday in the crash of a British jet Comet airliner near Calcutta.

Miss Lehman and two of the Americans killed in last Saturday's tragedy had embarked on a pleasure-bound world tour after completing exchange teaching assignments in Rangoon, Burma.

The young Minnesota school teacher, who had started the trip alone with a tour of India, had been scheduled to meet her two friends—Miss Jean S. Cohen of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Anita Whistler of Berkeley, Calif.—here last Saturday.

She was awaiting them in a hotel lobby when she heard of their tragic deaths.

"She decided it was just fate that they had died," other teacher companions said today. She booked

Would Compel All Witnesses To Testify

McCarran Bill Aimed at Balky Reds, Racketeers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) today predicted swift passage of his bill to arm congressional investigating groups with power to compel balky witnesses to testify.

The measure is aimed squarely at witnesses who refuse to testify about Communist, racketeering or other activities on grounds their answers might tend to incriminate them—a right guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The bill would allow any congressional investigating committee, by a vote of two thirds of its members, to order any witness to answer all questions and declare him immune from prosecution for the things he disclosed.

In present form the bill does not require a check with the Justice Department to determine whether the immunity grant might upset some major pending criminal case. But McCarran and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) offered different amendments to require such a check. Each, however, would reserve to the committee the right to override any Justice Department objections.

In a Senate speech Sen. George (D-Ga) denounced the measure as weakening the traditional protections of the U. S. Constitution. But he said he would not oppose the bill because "abuses of our constitution have been so gross." Many witnesses before congressional committees have invoked the constitutional provision against self-incrimination in refusing to answer questions. In some cases they have

Allies Seek Additional Information

Demand Communists Spell Out in Detail POW Exchange Plan

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Allied truce negotiators today asked question after question aimed at forcing the Communists to spell out in detail their compromise prisoner exchange plan and said "we must know the answers" before the proposal could be considered further.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr. told newsmen after the 32-minute session that his barrage of questions did not mean the U. N. Command had accepted the Red plan as a basis for negotiations. "We have nothing fixed on this matter at all. I'm just probing for facts," the senior Allied delegate said.

He said, "of course" there would be other questions to the Communists on their new plan.

Harrison's detailed questioning was centered on the Reds' proposal to have a five-nation neutral repatriation commission take custody of the 48,500 Red prisoners who refuse to return to communism.

"How would decisions be reached? Majority vote? Is there a veto?" Harrison asked the Communist negotiators.

The Reds, in their sweeping, eight-point proposal to settle the prisoner deadlock—the last major block to a Korean armistice, proposed that the commission consist of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden.

Would Head Military Mission

Suggest Gen. Van Fleet Train Indochina Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) suggested today that Gen. James A. Van Fleet would "make a good man" to head a U. S. military mission to train native anti-Communist troops in Indochina.

Knowland, who heads the Senate GOP Policy Committee and is a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he does not believe Van Fleet's obvious differences with Gen. Omar N. Bradley over Korean policy should make any difference on such an assignment in proposed new foreign aid funds for use in financing the training, equipping and even paying of troops fighting the Reds in Indochina.

This is in addition to 60 million dollars in special aid Harold E. Stassen, the mutual security director, said yesterday has been transferred to the French government out of foreign aid money. Stassen said the French would use the money on their home finances, thereby releasing funds for Indochina use.

Mollenkopf farm. The barn was located on a lane off the Dice Road, some distance from the Mollenkopf house and other farm buildings. Members of the family noticed the reflection of the blaze in the sky, some time after they had gone to bed.

Loss of the barn was estimated at $10,000. Farm machinery housed in the barn, and belonging to Mollenkopf's son, Howard, amounted to $5,000 loss, according to the Galion Fire Department. Farm machinery included two combines, three mowing machines, two grain drills, corn binder, corn shredder, feed grinder and a rubber tired wagon. Bales of hay and straw also burned.

Galion firemen did not attempt to drive the fire truck down the muddy lane to the fire scene after the city police cruiser became stuck in the lane.

Testifies Ports Not Airtight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Coast Guard officials told Congress in testimony released today the security of America's ports probably cannot be made airtight in peacetime.

But the officials said they made "significant improvement" in tightening port security last year.

The Coast Guard undertook a limited security program, worked out in 1950, after former President Truman declared America's ports were endangered by subversive activities.

Vice Adm. Merlin O'Neill, the commandant, told a House appropriations subcommittee that progress was made last year in 10 major port areas where security hazards were checked. He said seamen and longshoremen were screened "to keep subversive elements" off the waterfront.

Rear Adm. A. C. Richmond, assistant commandant, testified the security program "represents, quite frankly, a compromise of a number of ideas."

"I do not think," he added, "that anybody can say that the present port security program is 100 per cent effective. . . .

"I do not believe in times like these that the United States generally is prepared to accept either the expense or the interference with normal life of an all-out port security program."

passage herself for home via Bombay and Cairo. The companions, who helped her take her baggage to the airport bus last night, said she had no fear of flying but had lost heart in doing any sightseeing on the way home.

The other dead in today's crash were listed as three German engineers, a Briton, a Dane, a Thailander, a member of India's parliament and other Indians. Thirteen of those aboard were passengers, five were crewmen.

Airline officials said the fire apparently broke out in an engine shortly after the Douglas-built transport lifted into the air. Flames swept back over the plane as the pilot attempted to make an emergency landing.

The plane fell like a streaking ball of fire just three miles from New Delhi's Palam Airport. It hit the ground at the edge of a crowded Indian bamboo hut village.

The plane was a blazing heap of rubble by the time emergency crews from the airport could reach it.

By dawn, nine bodies had been removed from the wreckage and covered with dressing gowns and blankets to keep off circling vultures. Clothes and some dismembered bodies were strewn along a rocky hillside.

The crash was the first fatal accident in 20 months for Air India, the country's biggest internal air service. One crewman was killed and several passengers injured in the last Air India crash, in September, 1951, near Bangalore.

Laborites Claim Election Victory

LONDON (AP)—British Labor party officials last night labeled labor's landslide victory in local council elections throughout England and Wales a slap at Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative national government. Conservatives termed the results misleading.

Final returns from the polling which began Monday and ended Thursday showed.

Labor—gained 417 seats, lost 54.

Conservatives—gained 85, lost 335.

Liberals—gained 9, lost 13.

Independents—gained 28, lost 130.

Communists — gained 0, lost seven.

Laborite gains are seats captured from other parties or from independents. Laborite losses are former Labor seats captured by other parties or independents.

More than 7,000 seats were at stake in the campaign, fought mainly on local issues.

IKE VISITING BROTHER

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower arrived here today to spend the weekend with his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State College.

Eighth District Congressman, for nomination to the post of U. S. marshal for northern Ohio.

The Associated Press reported today from Washington that Owens' name was one of approximately 10 being considered for the post. The news dispatch said Senators Taft and Bricker had not yet decided whom to recommend to President Eisenhower for the post.

Owens said today he knew he had been among those considered for the job but hadn't been aware that Betts had officially recommended him. He said he had no idea when the appointment would be made. The two Ohio senators will select the final candidate from the names recommended by the various congressmen in the northern part of the state. That name will be recommended to the President, who will make the appointment. The appointment then goes to the Senate for approval.

indicated they refused to testify about their own activities or connections in order to avert questioning about other persons.

When debate got under way yesterday on the measure no more than a dozen senators attended at any time. A vote on the rival McCarran and Kefauver amendments was blocked by failure to muster a quorum of senators—a minimum of 49.

McCarran told the Senate his bill would leave no room for "an immunity bath" for wrongdoing political favorites.

His proposed amendment, he said, simply would require any congressional committees to give the attorney general a week's notice before granting immunity to a witness.

DULLES OFF ON TOUR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today begins an on-the-spot check of conditions in the Middle East and South Asia aimed at developing a possible fresh U. S. policy toward that area.

Mutual Security Director Stassen arranged to accompany Dulles on the 20-day tour—the first by an American secretary of state in office to this part of the world.

Early Tax Reduction Doomed

Prospects of Unbalanced Budget Jolts Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many Republicans expressed dismay today at Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's statement that the budget can not be balanced next year and that the 275 billion dollar limit on the national debt may have to be raised.

Few wanted to discuss on the record what this did to hopes for a tax reduction soon. But one GOP member of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee told reporters who sought comment:

"Gentlemen, that's a damned unpleasant subject."

Another Republican senator said he had "heard rumors" Humphrey's Treasury Department was drafting a tax message to Congress. But he said he did not know what was in it.

Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and long a leader in budget-cutting drives, said he still has hope the budget can be balanced in the year starting July 1.

"I believe we can convince them (administration officials) it will be balanced," Taber said.

House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) said he does not believe the debt ceiling will have to be raised. He said the fiscal picture "will appear brighter" after Congress has passed on all appropriations.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said he has not given up hope of a balanced budget in the new fiscal year.

Humphrey made his statement to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, considering the foreign aid bill for the new fiscal year. It followed by a few days President Eisenhower's remark that a review of the 1954 budget indicated income could not be balanced with outgo.

But the Treasury secretary went further. He was quoted as saying at the closed hearing that the budget should not be balanced because that would mean cuts endangering the nation's security. He said more

But Rep. Reed (R-NY) and the security and about half of the rest is fixed and can not be cut.

Then Humphrey raised the touchy issue of boosting the national debt limit of 275 billion dollars. The debt now stands at 265½ billion and was 258½ billion a year ago.

Some bleak prospects appeared for the administration in the wake of Humphrey's words.

In the first place, the Treasury revealed that revenues now are falling under previous forecasts. If this trend continues the budget-balancing job—staked out by the would be even tougher.

War Research Board Still In Operation

Indentity of Group Organized by Ike Remains Top Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "Little Group of Anonymous Young Officers" — organized by president Eisenhower when he was Army chief to peer into the long distance future of warfare—is still operating.

Its membership is still anonymous, although others have come to replace the original three. The future on which they focus is nearer. And they are now representatives of all services working for the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Their primary job now is to keep a few years ahead of the events with which the Joint Chiefs have to deal in their routine planning of strategy.

In 1947 when Eisenhower announced organization of the unit which now exists as the "Joint Advanced Study Committee" of the Joint Chiefs, he said he wanted them "to give me the wildest kind of guess as to just what warfare will look like say 23 years from now."

The Joint Chiefs, with an eye on the world's growing arsenal of weird weapons, will settle now for a good guess on what war might be like say by 1960.

The device the committee uses to peek ahead is "extrapolation." That word, favored by scientists, means taking a known fact, like the capabilities of an existing weapons system, applying it to the best educated guesses on improvements to or outgrowths of the system, and coming up with a prediction of what things will be like five or 10 or 20 yars from now.

Those familiar with the seven-year history of the group say it made remarkably accurate predictions of the forthcoming trends in atomic weapons and energy development, including forecasts hinting at Russia's amazing progress in the field.

There is a claim, perhaps going back to some of the original group, that it was the first "young colo-sizing the administrations concern with Indochina was followed later in the day by a joint statement from President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada.

They declared that Red aggression in Laos, the Indochina state being invaded by Vietminh forces, casts doubt on Communist peace gestures elsewhere. The statement wound up two days of conference between Eisenhower and St. Laurent and their top aides.

Knowland said he believes that, while the French might insist on retaining authority over the Indochina training program, he believes Van Fleet could head a military mission which would actually get the job done.

"He seems to be one man with the drive and initiative to train native troops," the California senator commented. "He certainly did an excellent training job of that kind in Greece and Korea."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va), an armed services committee member active in an investigation of Van Fleet's charges of ammunition shortages in Korea, endorsed the idea of sending the former 8th Army commander to Indochina.

Young Couple Hurt in Crash

In Hospital After Richland Tp. Accident

Lois Ann Lipker, 19, of near Marion, and Douglas D. Kneisley, 22, of 576 Pearl St., were taken to Marion City Hospital this morning with injuries sustained in a one-car accident in Richland Township, on County Road 163, a half-mile east of Route 98.

According to state patrolmen, the accident occurred at 1 a.m. today when the car which Miss Lipker was driving veered off the right side of the road then skidded back across the road to the left side, turning around on the pavement and crashing into a guard rail. The car finally overturned in a ditch at the left side of the road A wrecker was called for the vehicle which was extensively damaged on the left side, front fenders and top.

Miss Lipker suffered a possible pelvic fracture and head injuries while Kneisley received a sprained and bruised back and a bruised right knee. They were taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Patrolmen said about 15 feet of guard rail was torn down and a post was broken when the car plowed into the ditch.

India and Switzerland.

Harrison indicated the U. N. Command will not accept the Reds' proposal that eventual disposition of prisoners who refuse to go home after "explanations" by their own side in neutral camps be left to a postwar political conference.

He asked how the new Red proposal overcomes Allied objections to the Communists' April 26 plan "by which prisoners could be detained indefinitely if your side so desires."

"We showed that, being denied any alternative to repatriation or continued captivity, the prisoners could, under that proposal be coerced into accepting repatriation," Harrison said. "We showed that the proposal did not constitute a final solution of this problem, in that it did not provide for the disposition of those prisoners who do not avail themselves of their right to be repatriated."

Harrison asked if the new proposal was "any more than an agreement to defer the final solution of the prisoner of war question until some later date?"

"Will you indicate how the current proposal cures these defects?"

Harrison also asked how the commission would supervise POWs and which languages would be used by the commission.

The meeting was adjourned until 11 a. m. Sunday (9 p. m. EST Saturday) after the Reds asked for a recess.

Harrison cautioned newsmen they were "not to infer anything" by the fact that the questions had been advanced by him.

"We are just trying to analyze the situation," Harrison remarked. "Before this thing is over, the questions have got to be answered in some way."

Dulles Says Plan Must Be Clarified

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States and the U. N. Allies have reached general agreement that several points of the new Communist Korean peace proposals need to be clarified and perhaps modified.

Dulles told a news conference the Communist proposals were discussed Thursday at a White House conference and again by President Eisenhower and himself at luncheon Friday. He declined to specify what points were objected to.

The proposals, he said, leave a number of points in an unsatisfactory condition and unless they are changed there will have to be further consultations at Panmunjom.

H said the general agreement now needs only some clarification and perhaps modification. It was reached by envoys here of the nations taking an active part in the Korean fighting.

Jesus Hold My Hand

From cotton patch to nationally known song writer

Had Stephen Foster been highly trained his songs might have lacked the originality that has made them immortal. Critics have torn Foster to shreds. But his songs live on. Some say the verse of Fanny Crosby is inferior poetry. But her hymns are found in the most scholarly hymnals. The reason is obvious. Each knew how to reach the heart of the public. Of current writers, none has produced songs better loved by the masses . . . the man of the street . . . than a modest Midwesterner named Albert E. Brumley.

The writer is yet to be born who can produce a masterpiece every time he puts pen to paper. Of Stephen Foster's 200 songs, a dozen belong to the ages. Of Fanny Crosby's 9000 hymns, a score will carry her name through the ages.

As percentages go, the gospel songs of Albert Brumley rank far above those of many writers. At middle age, Brumley has turned out 500 gospel songs. No less than 40 have circled the globe. Half that number promise to be favorites with grandchildren of the youngest reader of this story. The reason is obvious. Brumley has a native "feel" for reaching the public heart, and his songs are identified by a sentiment all their own.

Albert Brumley grew up in cotton patches of LeFlore County, Oklahoma, where he was born in 1905, and where he saw "lots of hardships and lean times." Attending a rural "singing school" at the age of 16, he determined to make a career of song writing. Since that day in the early '20s, there has echoed across America and many foreign countries, "If We Never Meet Again," "I'll Meet You In The Morning," "I'll Fly Away," I'd Rather Be An Old-Time Christian," "Turn Your Radio On" and many another.

Operating his own publishing firm, with his five sons and daughter, at Powell, Mo., the artist turns out his songs in the atmosphere of a typical rural village where he can feel the pulse of the people for whom he writes . . . the average American.

MODEST AND RETIRING, Brumley claims little credit for his success. "If you do nothing more in your story," he requests, "please mention that I would probably still be in the cotton fields of Oklahoma but for the help of so many dear friends every step of the way."

But Albert Brumley says there is one Friend to whom he owes his greatest debt of gratitude. He wrote a song about Him in 1933 and it still stands at the top of his list. There's not a lover of gospel music in America who hasn't heard it and there's hardly a radio set from the Atlantic to the Pacific over which these words have not been heard many times during the past two decades.

As I travel thru this pilgrim land
There is a Friend who walks with me,
Leads me safely thru the sinking sand,
He is the Christ of Calvary;
This would be my pray'r, dear Lord, each day
To help me do the best I can,
For I need Thy light to guide me day and night
Blessed Jesus, hold my hand.

Let me travel in the light divine
That I may see the blessed way;
Keep me that I may be wholly Thine
And sing redemption's song some day;
I will be a soldier brave and true
And ever, firmly take a stand,
As I onward go and daily meet the foe,
Blessed Jesus, hold my hand.

When I wander thru the valley dim
Toward the setting of the sun,
Lead me safely to a land of rest
If I a crown of life have won;
I have put my faith in Thee, dear Lord,
That I may reach the golden strand,
There's no other friend on whom I can depend,
Blessed Jesus, hold my hand.

(Chorus)
Jesus, hold my hand, I need Thee every hour,
Thru this pilgrim land Protect me by Thy pow'r;
Hear my feeble plea, O Lord, look down on me,
When I kneel in pray'r I hope to meet you there,
Blessed Jesus, hold my hand.

Pastor of Wesley Methodist Church

"Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.—Galatians 6:2

Tomorrow we recognize as Mother's Day and honor Motherhood in general. This day rightly observeds is "The Festival of the Christian Home." When God started the human race, He started it not with an individual but with a family. He made the family the unit. The family disintegrates when its members cease to "bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ."

The Scriptures constantly remind us that Christ came not to remove Life's luggage but to multiply our burdens. It is true that our Lord said "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden" but He only invited them that He might offer them His yoke and His burden. Here is something worth thinking about: "Christ gives rest to the heart by giving burdens to the shoulders. And, as a matter of fact, it is in being burdened that we usually find rest. Heavy luggage is Christ's strange cure for weary hearts." The sick man must be nursed; the wounded must be tended; the frail must be cherished. In a Christian land, under Christian law, we bear each other's burdens, we carry each other's luggage. "It is the law of Christ, the law of the cross, a sacrificial law."

Burdens carried without the help of the great "Burden Bearer" will break us. Every mother knows what it is, on coming to the task that she mistook for the last of the day, to find anoher pile of garments that must be mended or pressed before bed time. We forget that mothers are human and need the cooperation of the family not only on Mother's Day but every day.

Our world honored great mothers long before the observance of Mother's Day became an accepted custom. It honored Monica, the mother of Augustine, who claimed her son for God by her prayers and love. It honored Susannah Wesley, who made her home a school of righteousness for her children and gave the world two sons, John and Charles, who became immortal. It honored Mary, the handmaiden of the Lord, whose Son is the Saviour of the world. His Name is above every name.

"Next to God, a mother can do more than anyone else to soothe a suffering body, to refresh a tired spirit, to help one endure wrongs and injustices which torture the soul, to strengthen her children for the life ahead of them. Hers is the high privilege of being a laborer together with God."

The home should be a family shrine with its altar to the living God. Upon that altar devotion and sacrifice should be offered continually. If the spiritual fires burn low, then God's way of life will be forgotten and the end thereof will be disaster and death. No nation can long survive the decay of the home. Wake up, America!

"Home, Sweet Home" is where we "Bear one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." "The law of Christ" is written upon the heart and not upon "Tablets of stone."

"Four things in any land must dwell,
If it endures and prospers well;
One is manhood, true and good;
One is noble womanhood;
One is child life, clean and bright;
And one, an altar kept alight."

Mother's Day, regardless of the calendar, is "The Festival of the Christian Home" when its members "Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ."

Prayer—Lord, we thank Thee that we have felt Thy love flowing through the hearts of our mothers, and being bestowed upon us through their kindly ministry. Keep the tenderness of these memories ever before us. We ask it in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

meditation will be given on "A Godly Mother."

Oldest and youngest mothers will be recognized at the Oak Knoll Baptist Chapel's afternoon Sunday School hour at 3 O'clock. The evening service will be in keeping with the Mother's Day theme also.

The message will "honor and spiritually encourage mothers in their particular tasks."

Heirs' Right To $973,000 Is Challenged

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—A ruling on whether three Roseville residents are heirs to the $973,000 estate of their sister's adopted son will be made in Common Pleas Court here.

Judge C. P. McClelland said he would welcome a chance to rule on the question, although he had "been acting under the assumption" that the relatives by adoption are the rightful heirs under a 1951 law.

Franklin County Prosecutor Frank Kearns Friday challenged the right of Ray and Chester Micklethwaite and Mrs. Hazel Melick to the estate of Dennis Kelly, son of their late sister, Mrs. Bess Kelly. Kelly died Feb 12 at the age of 20 in an Army camp. He had inherited the money from his parents, both of whom are dead.

Kearns claimed the Micklethwaites and Mrs. Melick have no interest in the estate since they are not blood relatives. He said if a blood relative is not found, the money should revert to the state.

Judge McClelland said Kearns didn't know about the 1951 law which gives an adopted child the same legal status as a natural child. However, he said, he would be glad to rule on the question because the statute has never been construed in court.

More than $50,000,000 (M) currently is on deposit with the Soldiers' Deposits savings account. Active accounts total 366,000.

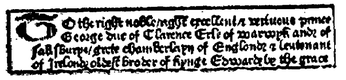
CROWN CAVALCADE — The PREDECESSORS of ELIZABETH II

No. 17: Edward IV. Ruled England 1461-1483.

Edward IV [†] was first English king to address Commons. Below: The training a royal prince such as Edward IV had. Inset in text at right is his signature.



Type specimen by Caxton, who set up first English printing press at Westminster under the patronship of Edward IV.

Born: 1442, son of Richard, Duke of York. When the latter, who had forced his acknowledgment as heir to the crazy Henry VI, was slain n one of the periodic outbreaks of "the War of the Roses," Edward led an army of fortune hunters to London and was proclaimed king. The murder of Henry VI solidified Edward's claim and the House of York maintained a shaky supremacy for 24 years. Edward made his reign a profitable one. He collected tribute from the French for not invading them. Edward's commercial ventures, while designed to benefit himself, also furthered the rise of the merchant classes of London.

No. 18: Edward V

Had title of King April-June, 1483.
Richard III Ruled England 1483-1485.

Edward V, son of Edward IV, was born in Westminster in 1470. Three months after he succeeded to the throne at 12, he was seized by his paternal uncle, the Duke of Gloucester, and imprisoned with his younger brother. At the Duke's instigation he was deposed of as ruler by an assembly of Lords and Commons who declared his father's marriage invalid and Edward, therefore, an illegitimate child. The Duke's purpose, of course, better of him. He then stooped to any means, including the murder of the rightful heir, to further his ends. But the throne won by crime made for an uneasy reign. When conspiracy and open rebellion flared, Richard tried hard to cultivate friendships. Parliament in particular came in for especial approval and a large share of the authority it had lost under Edward IV was restored. But the king was always dogged by the memory of maintenance chemicals. Another 2½ billion dollars will be spent on labor at the service firms.

Gas and oil are obvious sales factors, but there are others: Shock absorber fluids, hydraulic brake fluids, anti-freeze, anti-rust and rust-dissolving chemicals, various cleaners and polishers, valve-grinding compounds—not to forget all the new fenders that will be needed because the other fellow was careless.

Benoit figures there is one service establishment for every 145 vehicles (cars, buses, trucks) and that the average annual maintenance cost per vehicle is $260, counting in everything it requires.

The new cars rolling out of Detroit aren't the only factor keeping the service industries humming. For one thing the old ones keeping going a lot longer—each year needing a bit more maintenance, maybe.

A/3c Robert C. Ellwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ellwood of 478 Cherry St., is spending a 30-day furlough with his parents after completing three months' training as an Air Force Technician at the USAF Technical School at Warren Air Base, Wyoming. He will be reassigned to another base shortly. He graduated from Harding High School in 1951 and received his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., before reporting to the base outside Cheyenne. Airman Ellwood was employed at the General Telephone Co. in Marion before entering the service in November of 1952.

Army Cpl. Richard A. Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wolfe of 576 Girard Ave., is a member of the 2nd Rocket Field Artillery Battery which was recently awarded the Distinguished Unit Citation in Korea. The battery, attached to IX Corps, was cited for its outstanding action in support of U.N. troops last fall during the battle of White Horse Mountain on the central front. Cpl. Wolfe, currently assigned as a section chief in the unit, arrived in Korea last October. He was graduated from Harding High School and was employed at the Jay H. Maish Co. as a pressman before entering the Army in January of 1951. He was stationed at Ft. Meade, before his overseas assignment.

Two Delaware soldiers were recently promoted to the rank of corporal while serving in Korea with Regiment, entered the Army in December of 1951 and arrived in Korea in July of 1952. He graduated from Delaware Willis High School in 1950. A squad leader in Company M of the division's 25th Regiment, Cpl. Glesenkamp arrived in Korea last June. He was graduated from Delaware Willis High School in 1949 and attended Ohio State University before entering the Army in November of 1951.

U.S. Population Over 159 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of the Census estimated today the population of the United States had crossed the 159 million mark by April 1.

The bureau said its estimates indicated that the population of the nation, including armed forces overseas, stood at 159,068,000 on that date.

This represented an increase of 220,000 during March and was 2,697,000 more than the population on April 1 last year.

On Mother's Day

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — On Mother's Day the rest of the family treat mom like a person instead of an institution.

But that is only one day out of the year.

And Mom goes about gamely for the ride, knowing tomorrow she will be back in the same old spot—taken for granted, like the weather and the First National Bank.

Some Mother's Day a mom is going to revolt. Her little batch of monsters and their daddy will be having her out for dinner. One of the little monsters is going to gaze across the table at her, as if seeing her for the first time in his life, and say in surprise:

'Why, mom, do you know . . . . in a way . . . . you're even kinda pretty."

But, instead of dimpling her thanks, mom is going to reach over and bite her baby scoundrel fair and hard on his nose And if enough mothers follow her example maybe more families will start thinking of the lady of the house as a real human being the other 364 days of the year.

Most women gallently submerge much of their own personality and individuality in the duties of motherhood. With so many squalling small egos in the land clamoring for expression, they silently squelch their own unsatisfied ambitions, and don't make much fuss about it. If they do any crying, they do it in the dark, when the kids can't hear.

Motherhood, like virtue, is often its own—and only—reward. Mom has more voluntary critics than a portrait painter in a public park. Whatever she does to raise her kids, someone is sure to say, "I'd do it different."

Right now one school of psychiatrists blames mom for everything that happens to her children later in life, from falling hair to mental acidosis. If she picks her lad up by the wrong foot as a baby, that is why he turns out to be a lop-sided lady-hater at 90.

Under this theory no mother can possibly win. Nobody ever raised a perfect child, and yet mom gets blamed for every flyspeck and flaw that junior develops. And trouble is that nobody can tell mom when she is helping Junior build a sturdy character, and when she is bruising his fine sensitive little nature.

She worries and worries about this, wondering if she is doing well by her brood or is really an uncaught criminal. If a stranger asks if she is a mother, she doesn't know whether she ought to deny all or guiltily admit, "I confess."

A mother has to live many terrible years of qualm and doubt before she really knows whether she did her job well or not. Only the century plant has to wait longer for results.

Meanwhile the hours, working conditions and keep-at-home pay for motherhood can be defended only by those who would give three ringing cheers for the return of slavery. Even the thanks are small.

A mother lives a true buried life, rooted deep in the flesh and hopes of her family. The odd thing bout her career is that all the years she is trying to fashion her odd-shaped blobs of protoplasm into respectable human beings they rarely think of her as a human being. They take her for granted as a green leaf blindly accepts strength from the sun.

Usually it is not until a man is grown and has troubles of his own that he has the common sense to look back and realize how wise his mother was, how kind, how selfless and often far-seeing. She is no longer an institution to him, or a tired voice telling him to wipe his nose and pick up his clothes, but a warm and wonderful person he has at last begun to understand.

And a man is lucky indeed if his mother is still there to be told she is no longer taken for granted, but loved, honored and appreciated for her very self's sake. Some sons wait too long, and never get to say this, and are sorry.

He, Richard III, the son of Richard, Duke of York, and brother of Edward IV, was born at Fotheringham in 1452. His record was one of an able soldier and man of culture until kingly ambitions got the field of battle at Bosworth, crying out, 'tis said, "My kingdom for a horse!" His slayer was the Earl of Richmond (later Henry VII). Horses began to make history in another way in Richard's reign. Stage-coach systems were started.

Auto Business Booms

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cars last longer and go farther than they used to. And there are more of them this year than last—as you'll notice if you go out on the highway this week-end.

So the industries that service them and keep them rolling expect to do a 14 billion dollar business this year.

The motor vehicle service industries are counting on growth at an average annual rate of 30 per cent—at least as long as national income doesn't slip significantly.

Old cars are being scrapped in large numbers—some 3½ million made their last trip in 1952. But for every three old cars scrapped, four new ones are being registered.

The Bureau of Public Roads estimates there are nearly 44 million autos on the roads today and almost 10 million trucks and buses.

The auto industry is trying to sell some 2,800,000 more by midsummer. It reports sales of new cars are picking up earlier this spring than last, and that used cars are moving off the lots now, too—although trade-ins on the new cars are keeping used car stocks high.

To keep the 54 million vehicles going, some 379,000 automotive service establishments are employing around two million persons—this is the estimate of C. A. Benoit Jr., president of the Permatex Co. of Brooklyn. His firm is a producer of transportation and industrial maintenance chemicals.

He estimates a gross business of all auto service firms in the nation of about 11½ billion dollars this year in the sale of parts, accessories, fuel, lubricants and

Missionary To Korea Will Fill Pulpit

Dr. Charles A. Sauer, Methodist missionary who with Mrs. Sauer left Korea in February, will be the preacher Sunday morning at Epworth Methodist Church in Marion. He will fill the pulpit in the absence of the pastor, Dr. V. E. Busler, who is ill.

Going to Korea in 1921, the speaker is one of three Methodist missionaries who served in Korea prior to 1940. He is in this country on a short furlough for his health, and expects to return to Korea in the fall.

The Sauers are located temporarily in Columbus. In Seoul when the North Koreans launched their invasion of South Korea in June, 1950, they had only a few hours' warning before they were forced to leave, fleeing only a few hours before the Communists entered the city. Mrs. Sauer left for Japan on a freighter with 750 women and children, and her husband followed by air. He returned to Korea the following November and continued work for the Korean Methodist Church in aiding refugees. Mrs. Sauer taught in Japan a while, but returned to Korea last September to teach English in Ewha Women's University at Pusan.

A native of Ohio, Dr. Sauer was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware and from Ohio State University, and served in France in 1918. He taught in Ohio high school four years previous to leaving for Korea where he served as principal of the Methodist Mission High School at Yeng Byen, North Korea, 11 years. One son is serving in Afghanistan, another is studying to go to Korea as a missionary, and a third is a student at Ohio State University.

There will be special music for Mother's Day at morning worship. At 6:30 p.m., Junior High and High School Fellowship members will meet at the church to proceed in calling on shutins. Fourth Quarterly Conference and official board meeting will be Tuesday night. WSCS Day will be held Thursday.

Signs of New Use of Prayer Seen in U.S.

By Norman Vincent Peale

About two years ago the editors of one of our great national magazines asked me if I thought there was a revival of prayer in our country and, if so, what were its manifestations. I wrote an article in which I pointed out the tremendous rise in church membership and attendance, listed some of the many groups of business and professional men who were meeting for the purpose of prayer in cities all over the country and discussed the activities of the group of Washington political figures who recently added President Eisenhower to their prayer meeting membership.

DR. PEALE

I went on to say that even the old custom of family grace before meals is coming back. Of course, in many families, it has never disappeared, but, I am afraid, for the vast majority of our people, grace before meals was merely something to be tolerated at public luncheons and dinners.

Recently, the news of a real attempt to encourage the saying of grace led me to believe that I was on the right track in my magazine article. For a group of hardheaded business men, the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Mamaroneck, New York, a suburban village of some 16,000 people has sponsored the printing of small cards containing forms of grace before meals for Protestants, Catholics and Jews. With the cooperation of the local restaurant owners, these cards are placed on each table and at each lunch counter seat to encourage patrons to ask a divine blessing before eating.

THE SPONSORS of these cards hope that, as restaurant menus are reprinted, the graces will be printed on the menus themselves and so become a permanent part of each eating place's equipment.

Already, the idea has been taken up elsewhere. A Miami Beach hotel has announced that it will

Edwards and Burris Buy Moore's Interest; Latter To Retire

Formation of the firm of Edwards and Burris, Architects, was announced today by Robert R. Edwards and James H. Burris, who have been associated with John H. Moore and Associates for the past two years. They have purchased Moore's interest in the business, as of May 1.

Moore, who is retiring, will be retained in the new firm as a consultant architect. He has been an architect in Marion for almost 30 years, with offices at 504 S. State St.

He and his wife, the former Miss Ola Knowles of Marion, reside at 588 Cleveland Ave.

He has lived in Marion since 1913 after graduating from New Bloomington High School, starting here as a contractor. He had taken three years of an Engineering course at Ohio Northern University at Ada when World War I interrupted his schooling and he later took Architectural Engineering at Ohio State University.

In the early 1930's, Moore was associated with Ronan and Ingleson, Inc., architects and engineers, of Columbus. He was in charge of the drafting room for about five years. Ingleson is now dead and Ronan is an instructor in architecture at Ohio State University.

The new firm will continue operations at the State St. address.

Edwards resides at 312 Kensington Place. He is married and has twin sons. He was educated at Ohio State University and graduated with a degree of Bachelor of Architecture, College of Engineering. He was formerly employed by Burgess and Niple, Consulting Engineers, in Columbus and Tuttle and Holroyd, Architects of Columbus. He is a veteran of four years Navy service.

Motorists Disregarding No-Turn Regulations

An increasing number of motorists disregarding no-turn regulations at E. Center and Prospect Sts. drew forth a word of warning today from Marion Police Chief Tom Coon.

Those who pay no heed to special lenses in the traffic light at the intersection and signs hanging below the light facing in all four directions will be liable to arrest and an appearance in Municipal Court, he said.

The City Traffic Commission decided to limit turns from the north, west, and east to right turns only and no turns at all for motorists traveling north on S. Prospect St. in an attempt to help relieve downtown traffic congestion.

include the prayers on its menus, and hotels and restaurants elsewhere are also considering joining in the project.

What these people are trying to promote in public places, you can promote in your own home and in your own family. Learn to give thanks before each meal. Here are the graces distributed in Mamaroneck; clip them and keep them in your wallet or at your place at table at home until you have memorized the one you want to use:

Protestant—"Bless, O Lord, this food to our use, and us to thy service, and make us ever mindful of the needs of others, in Jesus' name. Amen."

Roman Catholic—"Bless us, O Lord, and these Thy gifts, which we are about to receive from Thy bounty. Through Christ our Lord. Amen."

Jewish—"Lift up your hands toward the sanctuary and bless the Lord. Blessed art Thou, O Lord our God, King of the universe, who bringest forth bread from the earth."

OF COURSE, you may have other forms of blessing you prefer. I know one family named Tupper in which the little son was taught to say, "My name is Tommy Tupper and I thank God for my supper." Not all of us happen to be named Tupper to rhyme with supper, or Skinner to Rhyme with dinner, but all of us can learn some form of giving thanks before meals appropriate to our particular belief. And all of us can urge our children and families to do likewise.

If you belong to a civic organization of some kind, perhaps you can persuade them to follow the Mamoroneck plan. They and you will both make a valuable contribution to your fellow citizens if you will do this.

And, in any event, give thanks yourself before each meal. You have much to be thankful for.

Another Meeting Set for Monday

Marion Committee Maps Memorial Day Program

The program group of the Memorial Day committee will meet Monday night at 7:30 in the VFW Club Rooms, D. J. MacDonald, general chairman of the committee, reported today.

In a meeting this week the committee laid the groundwork for the May 30 Memorial Day events sponsored by the patriotic and veterans' organizations of the county.

It was decided that all groups marching in the parade are to meet at 9:30 a.m. at their assigned stations along the parade route, with marching to start promptly at 10 a.m.

The First Division, consisting of patriotic and veterans' auxiliaries and school children, will assemble at Oak St. The speaker and Disabled Spanish War Veterans, riding in cars, will also assemble at Oak St. as will the parade's grand marshal and his staff.

All veterans will march in the Second Division, which will assemble on N. Prospect St. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts will meet on S. Prospect St. and will comprise the Third Division.

There will be no review at the post office, as in former years, MacDonald said, but instead the parade will continue marching to the Marion Cemetery where the program will center. As usual, the parade will start at Oak St. on Center St., continue to Main St., where it will turn and proceed to the cemetery. After cemetery services, the groups will disband, MacDonald reported.

New Program Feature

A new feature for the program this year, the general chairman announced, is an awning for the speakers' stand. The awning is blue and gold, the colors of the GAR.

Advancement of the colors will start the service at the cemetery, with the drum corps sounding off to the colors.

At this week's meeting, the following committee heads were appointed: C. M. Rogers, speaker; Fred Berg and James Sloan, decorations; D. A. Brown, sound equipment; Capt. John Canterberry, commander of Company C, 166th Regimental Combat Team, to furnish firing squad; James Thomas, music; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Messenger and James Cusic, grave marking.

Acting on the grand marshal committee.

The following commanders of veterans' groups were appointed to serve on the program committee: D. J. MacDonald, R. E. Copeland, Louis Dutton, J. C. Marks, Charles Briner, Robert Vaughan, Walter Melby, Charles Morbitt, C. M. Rogers, Harry Vogel, Joseph Baalsten, Col. Robert G. Chambers and Ralph Horstman.

Heads Transportation

Larry Rainier, president of the Auto Dealers' Association, was appointed chairman of the transportation committee. Composing the committee in charge of seats and the speakers' stand are members of the Marion Fire Department. Heading this committee are Chief O. A. Sifritt and C. W. Stafford. J. C. Marks and William Payette will provide special chairs for the stand.

Acting as secretary for the meeting this week was Capt. F. L. Nelson.

Reasonable Doubt

President Eisenhower referred in the speech he made for $100-a-plate Republicans in New York City to the belief spies made Russia's atomic explosions possible. There is a reasonable doubt about this matter.

If the principal material transmitted to Russia by spies passed through the hands of the Fuchs apparatus, the question is how the kind of material made available in this manner could have been of major importance. The men who were responsible for collecting it were neither scientists nor engineers.

If the Russians never had seen an automobile and knew nothing about automobiles, they couldn't build one with a blueprint of every single detail. In World War I, the United States was unable to construct a "French 75" with the complete cooperation of France. In World War II, the American builders of British Allison engines struggled for months to translate specifications in British working plans to U.S. measurements.

It was gospel during the Truman administration that the United States could have had absolute security for an indefinite number of years if it hadn't been betrayed by spies and saboteurs.

Without condoning the dirty work they did in they attempted to hurt the United States, it may be doubted they could have had that much effect. It would be better to acknowledge that Russia must have scientists and engineers able to figure our nuclear fission and production of fissionable material for themselves, just as some of them have figured out a jet - propelled airplane that can fly extremely fast.

Reorganization Uproar

By David Lawrence

Proposal Believed Step Backward Militarily

The proposed plan to reorganize the Department of Defense and increase substantially the power and authority of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is causing considerable concern in Congress, particularly among those members who previously have been deeply interested in the advance of air power in the military services.

Criticism of the proposal is coming, however, from men in all three armed services who regard it as a step backward in military organization and as a move toward what has been called "the Prussian General Staff Plan."

But, aside from the merits of the scheme, the submission of the reorganization plan has awakened in Congress a resentment over the method being used to amend the National Security Act.

Instead of submitting legislative proposals to amend existing laws in the regular course, the technique of wrapping up the changes under the procedures of the Reorganization Act is being attacked.

Thus, the executive branch of the government now writes a proposed law and sends it to the House and Senate. Unless one or the other vetoes the proposal, it becomes law.

This means that neither house can amend the proposal and must take it or leave it.

As one member of the House said:

"This gives Congress only the power of veto but gives the executive the right to make the laws. There are grave doubts as to whether this is constitutional."

A fundamenal defect in this procedure, too, is that, before the plan is submitted to Congress, the members do not have a chance to express themselves.

So far as is known, none of the members of the Armed Services Committees of the Senate or the House saw the text of the plan before it kas submitted by the President.

It is known that the text was not even submitted in advance for criticism to the heads of the three armed services in the Department of Defense — namely, the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—who are to be affected fundamentally by the reorganization. Now, if these chiefs are called to testify in Congress, they will feel muzzled because to oppose the measure in any way will subject in each of the three armed services, and it is a misrepresentation of the truth to say that any department is either for or against it. Opinion is divided.

Embarrassment would never have been created if the plan had been submitted to each of the members of the Joint Chiefs for study and criticism before it was embodied in a report by a commission of civilians plus Gen. Bradley, who is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff but does not reflect the views of all its members.

Representative Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee plans to hold hearings soon on the proposed reqrganization plan.

"Even though the plan," he said, "has been referred to the Committee on Government Operations. I have spoken to Chairman Hoffman and to Speaker Martin, and they both are agreeable for hearings to be held by our committee.

"The subject touches vitally the whole Department of Defense and all the armed services, and this is, of course, the primary job of the House Armed Services Committee. We intend to call witnesses to explain fully their views on the measure before any vote is taken in the House."

In the Senate, by agreement with Sen. McCarthy, chairman of the Committee on Government Operations, the proposal had been referred to the Senate Armed Services Committee, but now there is some question as to whether this violates the reorganization law, which specifies that all proposals must be referred to the two Committees on Government Operations.

The whole episode and its collateral controversies may bring a test of the wisdom of the reorganization law itself. Here is a basic statute, known as the National Security Act, which it took many months in 1947 and 1949 to write and get through Congress. Now, by a few provisions called "Reorganization Plan No. 6," the law is to be emusculated in many of its principal features.

All this is being done without giving a legal opportunity to the two Armed Services Committees to consider and formally report upon legislation that amends the laws they are supposed to write.

The new plan might be made workable by amendments, but

Embarrassment for Eisenhower

By Jay G. Hayden

An all but impenetrable roadblock to revision of the Taft-Hartley law and a prime political embarrassment for President Eisenhower are clearly discernible in a new approach to the old effort to outlaw economic discriminations on account of race or religion.

An amendment offered by Sen. Ives and 10 others of the 13 members of the Senate Committee on second, that the agent chosen must represent all employes "fully and fairly."

Hearings were ordered on the Richmond complaint but the proceedings had not gone far before the condition complained of was corrected.

There is no doubt, however, that discriminations against Negroes exist extensively both in hiring by where, but also he has taken a firm stand for state rights.

The latter attitude was greatly stressed in the drive for Southern votes which carried Texas, Virginia, Florida and Tennessee into the Eisenhower column last November.

It is significant that the two members of the Senate Labor Committee refusing to join in introduction of the Ives amendments

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Down, Fido, Down

An Albuquerque veterinarian says that dogs get ulcers from their masters. If you are the jumpy, nervous, high-tension type, your pooch will get that way through an "association complex." he says.

Our poodle, Imperial Twinkingham's Sultan III ("Rusty"), has been something of a problem pooch lately. This can be it. We've been worrying a lot about the way the pooch has been acting, and probably he has been worrying about the way we have been acting.

We are tense because of the global situation, the economic picture, Panmunjom and the awful weather. Come to think of it, "Rusty" has taken to growling and pacing the floor the minute we pick up our newspaper to scan the headlines. And we have no sooner turned to the stock tables than he has begun whining and acting in obvious distress.

Our reactios are conveyed to him. It's the old association complex.

The wife thinks she may have ulcers, too, and is inclined to blame them on both me and the dog.

There have been a good many arguments in our house over whether a pooch should sleep at the foot of the bed, whether the newly upholstered divan should be out of bounds for him, whose turn it is to take him out for a walk and whether a dog can't be taught to eat regularly even if a wife omits chicken breast from his meals.

At any rate we decided to take "Rusty" to a dog psychiatrist. "Do you think I should take Imperial Twinkingham's Sultan III to a dog psychiatrist?" we asked the wife.

"Either that or the dog should take you to one," she replied.

Ignoring the crack, we took the dog. The pscychiatrist had trouble getting the pooch to lie on a couch, relax and give expression to whatever thoughts came to his mind.

We suggested that the doctor forget the couch and ask the dog to sit up, roll over, play dead, chase a rubber toy or fetch slippers, as the pup's education had been more along this line.

The psychiatrist insisted upon sticking to the orthodox couch routine. The dog was equally obdurate. (To break the deadlock we consented lie on the couch, after the doctor had patted us on the head and coaxed us with a dog biscuit.)

Finally, he gave his verdict. "Like most owners you're to blame for whatever ails your dog," he said. "You have been asking the dog to fetch your slippers, chase toys, retrieve sticks and do senseless tricks. That's all wrong. The dog should ask you to do these things. Existence in your home has been too one-sided

If there were enough radar speed traps in the state to pepper Ohio roads with warning signs that arrest was imminent, excessive speed would dwindle in a hurry.

Since the bill which passed the House of Representatives provides for warning signs only on radar-traps in actual operation, it will create no false impressions. It will not do the damage done by all those signs warning motorists that traffic laws are going to be enforced when they aren't going to be enforced at all and thereby encourage contempt for traffic laws in general.

This is an old issue in a new form: Whether the purpose of traffic enforcement is to increase the public margin of safety, or to increase the traffic department's margin of income over outgo.

Warning signs on radar speed traps will be poison for badge-wearing Jesse Jameses who would like to commit legal holdups on the highways with electronics. But they will be a positive deterrent to heavy-footed motorists—the prime killers of the automobile age—if the Ohio senate goes along with the Ohio House of Representatives.

Champ Visits Other Champs

John M. Turrell of Norfolk, England, known at home as the world's champion wheat grower, has made a trip to Oklahoma to show area ranchers how he got 131.7 bushels of wheat per acre in England. It is hoped he is a good teacher. There are times, say when grain brings a high price, when 30 bushels per acre cause delight. If good seed, proper rain, no hail, fortified soil and radiant hopes could give the average farmer even 100 bushels per acre, English Turrell might spend his visit-time learning some things which Americans do well enough to boast about. We do set a few records over here, even in farming, and occasionally — well, sometimes — we don't boast about it.

54 Million Strong

Something needs to hapen to the imagination when it stubs its toe on a figure like 54 million members of something called the International Confederation of Free Trades Unions. It needs to develop a two-way stretch to keep from being shattered beyond repair.

This organization was scheduled this week to make its collective views known to the economic and social council of the United Nations. The views in themselves were noteworthy, having to do with ways and means of deflating the war bubble without an employment collapse. But it is the idea of 54 million men and women standing behind the ideas which challenges the imagination.

In their wildest estimates, the unionists of the United States claim no more than 17 million members—and that includes millions more than ever claimed to be unionists. Yet, here is an organization of unionists which claims to have one opinion among three times as many unionists as there are in the United States!

The claim is absurd—as absurd as all claims about agreement among human beings of diverse origins and interests. It is, perhaps possible for half a dozen persons to agree absolutely. Beyond that number, dissenting opinions become inevitable.

Fifty-four million people could not even agree on the broad proposition that all of the 54 million are people.

them to the charge of "insubordination."

Already mischief makers are trying to make it appear that the Joint Chiefs are fighting the proposed reorganization plan, when, as a matter of fact, it is doubtful whether they have made their viewpoint known to anybody for the reason that, until this week, they never had a chance to examine it.

The plan has developed support and opposition among high officers first it would have to be voted down as an entity by either house and then new legislation written.

It is regrettable that the president's commission didn't sit down with all the members of the House and Senate Armed Services Committees before recommending the plan to someone as busy as the President for his approval of a highly technical matter and then submitting it to Congress on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: Someone was wondering the other day what is happening to the art of letter-writing. I told him.

People have quit putting it down on paper. Most of them are too busy. Some of them are too cagey to put it in the record. They're afraid the letters might be dug up and used during some future investigation.

Some don't have anything to put down.

Seriously, it's too bad the art is languishing because for the ordinary man or woman it's the only chance left for self - expression. When I was young, there used to be a good deal of face - to - face debating and discussing.

But today if anyone wants to hear a discussion or a debate he gets it via electronics and rejects all discussions and debates which fail to meet the new standards. The ordinary run of citizen spends his life these days wishing he could be as glib as the professional glibsters.

Letter - writing would be an easy alternative, except it has been shoved out of fashion by a lot of things, including both the telephone and automobile. Instead of writing, friends now call one another, or jump into the family taxmobile and pay a visit.

They'd have been better off to write. The telephone call fizzles out in a mess of inanities. The visit isn't successful, because it runs into complications, such as eating, drinking, other visitors and distractions.

The peculiar merit of letter-writing is the undivided attention which can be applied to it. I received a letter today which the writer said had been written in three installments, two of them a half day apart. Yet, there was no interruption in the development of three pages than could have been the letter. It contained more in three pages than could have been said properly in three days of conversation.

I fully realize there are people who cannot write letters. There's a trick to it, like skinning a rabbit. The hardest part of the trick is to get beyond the commonplace into the things which will hold attention. It's not unlike making a speech, which is another thing not everybody can do.

I was thinking last Tuesday night after I had suffered through one of the most dismal speeches ever perpetrated on a captive audience that I haven't heard a first-class speech in recent years and the reason must be that it's getting harder for speakers to rise above the commonplace.

In other words, what used to be first class now is guff because many things which once were new and stimulating now are commonplace. The standard is being raised each year.

There is one kind of letter-writing which may still be flourishing, for all I know—love letters. I am in no position to judge whether or not this branch of the art is languishing. I should think not, because there never is anything commonplace about love. It's eternally new, fresh, stimulating and wonderful.

All the trees you like to admire in Maytime once more are admirable — the plums, pears, apples, dogwoods, peaches and evergreens, with their new growth on the tips of their branches. I keep wondering if you are finding time to get out into the country to learn what is going on there. It's the only place where everything is proceeding according to plan.

Give my best thoughts to the family, also your aunt's, which are better than mine but no more sincere.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Bridges over streams or mudholes were unknown to the early pioneer and when one started for Columbus or Lancaster, the usual places to procure flour or meal, his axe was a necessary part of his travel equipment. When he saw a bad-looking mudhole, especially one with a few poles lying in it, he knew a misguided teamster had been in difficulty. Stopping his ox-team, the traveler would seize his axe and promptly hew himself another route.

Labor and Public Welfare would simply add racial or religious discrimination to the list of unfair labor practices banned by the Taft - Hartley Act. This prohibition would apply equally to employers and labor unions.

Clearly the effect would be substantially the same as the Fair Employment Practices Commission plan, powerfully supported in the North and West for a long time past but repeatedly blocked by Southern filibuster in the Senate.

The present proposal, in fact, is stronger than FEPC in that it would utilize the already established police and prosecution facilities of the National Labor Relations Board, extending into every nook and corner of the country and proved effective in stopping employment practices now designated as unfair.

Racial discrimination has figured in past decisions of the Labor Board, but only in connection with employe elections to determine collective - bargaining representation.

Early in its deliberations the NLRB laid down a rule forbidding any discrimination in these elections on account of color or sex.

Later, but still before the initial Wagner Act was replaced by Taft-Hartley, the board received a specific complaint that in a tobacco manufacturing plant in Richmond Negroes had been refused the right to vote in an employe election.

The purpose of the election was to decide who would be certified as bargaining representative for the workers.

The law, and court interpretations of it, had established, first, that all employes of the unit concerned must be permitted to vote regardless of union status, and, employers and union membership.

A considerable number of unions maintain segregated locals for colored members and, in many instances, especially in the building trades, colored persons are entirely excluded from unions. These conditions by no means are confined exclusively to the South.

One reason for strong labor support of a proposal by Chairman Smith of the Senate Labor Committee, to exempt intrastate construction and public - utility operations for the Taft - Hartley Act, is that this would leave racial and other personnel involvements in those categories to state control.

President Eisenhower's likely embarrassment on account of the Ives proposal arises from a conflict of commitments. He has declared himself strongly against racial or religious discrimination and are Taft and Hill of Alabama.

Sen. Taft all along has held that federal efforts to relieve racial discrimination should be kept short of police surveillance and court prosecution, such as the Ives proposal clearly envisages.

Sen. Hill is the lone Southern Democrat on the Labor Committee. While he is a New Dealer in nearly all respects and strongly pro-union, Hill has joined just as ardently in filibustering against FEPC and other racial - equality bills as any of his more conservative Southern colleagues.

There is hardly any doubt that inclusion of the Ives amendment among revisions of the Taft-Hartley law would mean just another Southern civil - rights filibuster which would defeat the entire measure.

Bottomless Gold Mine

By LEWIS JAMES

CAIRO

This is the stake implied in ownership of the Suez Canal, apart from basic considerations of military strategy.

Revenue from shipping, is a bottomless treasure purse.

In the first six months of this year around 7,000 ships will pass through the Canal, each paying tolls at the rate of 8 shillings ($1.12) a ton—plus another 8 shillings for every passenger.

Although the Canal cost only $56,000,000 to cut, estimated value of the concession is around $280,000,000.

The Canal company's revenues last month were more than $6,720,000 bringing the total for the first quarter of this year to nearly $19,000,000.

Gen. Mohammed Naguib's boys are as well aware of all the hopes and fears that go with the prospect of future Egyptian control of the Canal as is the British Government.

Britain would get a lot more international support in her dealings with Naguib if she came out into the open. Admittedly, she, too, doesn't find the prospect of future all-Egyptian control of Suez entirely a pleasing one.

If the Egyptians feel they are being hard done by, they have only themselves to blame. For they already have given Western shipping companies a taste of what all-Egyptian control could mean.

Anyway, the Egyptians have always disliked almost everything and nearly anybody connected with the Canal because of the circumstances (humiliating to them) in which "alien" control developed.

Are the Egyptians likely to attempt to run this show on their own after 1968? Of course they are. Naguib already has declared the Canal "Egyptian accoring to our legal rights"—and Dr. Mustafa Hefnawi is already recruiting for a new government department charged with preparing itself for taking over the Canal when it reverts to Egypt.

Ohio Mayor Sees Red

Louisville Wag's Sense of Humor Strikes Sour Note on Fund Request

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The mayor of Brilliant, O., didn't think it was funny when he received a comic-strip clipping from Louisville poking fun at his efforts to raise funds for a swimming pool in his community of 3,000.

To put it mildly, Mayor T. V. Oltmann was quite disturbed.

Oltmann sent letters to 5,400 mayors throughout the country, along with a plea for a $1 donation from each. The letters explained he was restorting to his unusual means of municipal financing because "we have borrowed to the limit of our bonded indebtedness."

He said the pool would cost $25,000 and the village hoped to raise most of it through various donations.

Oltmann was so burned up about the reply he received from Louisville that he sent a letter to the Courier-Journal to "show the good citizens of Louisville the type of city administration they have."

He enclosed the comic strip, entitled Ferdinand. It showed a comic character setting out to build a big pool in his back yard. When the digging gets tough the character cuts back his plans and ends up sinking an old bathtub in the ground.

"I am not complaining because we received no contribution from your fair community," he wrote.

"The fact that disturbs me is that someone in the city offices was petty enough to enclose the comic strip, mail it back in our metered envelope, and forced us to pay the four cents postage. . .

"I feel that if your honorable mayor did not wish to join our campaign the least he could have done was to have filed my appeal in the wastebasket and not forced us to pay the return postage."

Miss Mary Lou Hubbard, secretary to Louisville's Mayor Charles Farnsley and George A. Hendon Jr., the mayor's executive assistant, were disturbed over the fact Mayor Oltmann was disturbed.

Said Miss Hubbard: Mayor Farnsley did not even see Oltmann's request. It was filed away in the basket like hundreds of other requests for donations that come into the office from all parts of the United States."

Hendon said he wrote to Oltmann, explaining that the comic-strip clipping did not come from Farnsley or anyone else in the mayor's office.

N. Y. Girl Must Give Up Fiance Or Forfeit Lifetime Inheritance

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty Park Avenue girl today faced this poignant choice: Did she want wealth? Or the man she loved?

With her 21st birthday just two weeks away, Jean L. Tanburn has received a court ruling that she must choose between one or the other.

She can't have both. Caught in this classic conflict between love and money, Miss Tanburn last night declined to comment on what

The will is "discriminatory," he said, but "to discriminate in the disposition of property is frequently the motivation of a will."

So the judge upheld the will of her great grandfather, Abraham S. Rosenthal, a silk importer, who died in 1938. He left bequests totaling five million dollars, including a fortune to Miss Tanburn's father, Stephen A. Tanburn, who died last October.

If she goes ahead with her plans to marry Donelson M. Kelly Jr., she forfeits her rights to a $10,000 cash inheritance and a $6,500-a-year income from a $675,000 trust fund.

The trying dilemma resulted from a provision in her great-grandfather's will that no descendant who marries a person "not of the Jewish faith and not of Jewish blood" can benefit from the will.

Kelly, a Princeton University senior, is not Jewish. He and Miss Tanburn, who attended Vassar, are engaged and planned to marry before he reports to the Army at Ft. Sill, Okla., next month.

When the problem was put before Surrogate William T. Collins yesterday, he said Miss Tanburn's situation "commands the court's sympathy."

Harding Choir And 2 Youthful Pianists Entertain for BPW

Music by the Harding High School Choir and by two young Marion pianists presented for the Business and Professional Women's Club dinner meeting Wednesday night at Hotel Harding was in observance of National Music Week.

During the dinner hour, piano music was by Miss Sally Schneider and Roger Jamison, and preceding the appearance of the choir, they played as a piano duo team the two pianos.

Grace at the table was sung, and the group singing by the club members was accompanied by Mrs. Ethyl Case. Mrs. Lewis Wills, music chairman for the club and general chairman in Marion for National Music Week, was in charge.

Used as a decorative note on the chairman's table was a violin surrounded by an arrangement of flowers and pink candles. The floral setting included pink tulips and pink candles in black ironwork holders to complete the color scheme, and back of the chairman's table stood tall candelabra with the lighted pink tapers.

New Air Mail Stamp Will Be Issued Soon

The stamp is being issued through the Dayton postoffice May 29 and stamp collectors and dealers desiring first-day cancellations of the stamp may send a reasonable number of addressed envelopes to the postmaster at Dayton with money-order remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed.

The red-colored stamp will be .84 by 1.44 inches in dimensions, arranged horizontally in a single outline frame, printed by the rotary process, electric-eye perforated, and issued in sheets of 50.

Central design of the stamp is a facsimile of the emblem created for the fiftieth anniversary of powered flight, showing in silhouette the first plane and a modern plane in powered flight. dicted a $9,900,000,000 deficit for 1954. Eisenhower said cuts had been made in the spending budget but he did not give any new deficit estimate. Some lawmakers who had coferred with him placed it at about 4½ billion dollars.

Secondly, many Republicans feel it would be politically unwise to let the excess profits tax die June 30, as scheduled, and do nothing to relieve individual taxpayers at that time. Under the 1951 tax increase law, individual income tax rates are due to drop 10 per cent on Dec. 31.

But Rep. Reed (R-NY and the House Ways and Means Committee he heads are dead set against any extension of the excess profits levy. This committee must originate all tax legislation.

Reed has backed a bill to advance to June 30 the 10 per cent cut for individuals. But the House Republican leadership so far has kept this bill off the floor.

Harding Wins League Meet; Morral Takes County Title

Prexy Thinclads Win Despite Disqualification

Harding High School walked off with its third successive Buckeye League track title Friday by sweeping to a convincing win in the league meet held at Fostoria.

The win came, however, after the Prexy mile relay team was handed a disqualification in their event. The unexplained disqualification was handed down when a Harding runner allegedly cut in on a Tiffin runner on the first curve. Coach Ken Somerlot said this morning, none of the fans had seen the move and meet officials were unable to tell when the cutting in occurred. The Prexies held a 150-foot lead throughout the race. The disqualification not only robbed the Prexy team of its best time of the season but took away the mile relay trophy.

The Harding crew racked up 72½ points to win easily over the rest of the league. Runner-up Fostoria copped 45½, Fremont had 39, Tiffin 28, and Bowling Green 27.

Jin Tucker of Fostoria was the outstanding performer of the meet. He scored 23 points and lowered three Buckeye Loop marks. His new marks included a 15.3 in the high hurdles, a 19.6 in the 180-yard low hurdles and a 21 foot, seven and a quarter inch leap in the broad jump.

Harding got off to a slow start in the field events with Fostoria taking the lead with eight and a half points in the shotput. Gary Ballinger and Frank Green netted the locals seven points in the broad jump and Green and Jim Zeigler added four in the high jump. Jack Craft and Ronnie Reed gained a second and third in the pole vault and Jack Boxwell and Bill Bailey hit for seven in the discus. At the end of the field events, the Prexies had drawn almost even with Fostoria.

Zeigler and Saiter came in fourth and fifth in the high hurdles and the 880-yard relay team, after overcoming a little confusion over directions, finished second behind Fremont. Jim Saiter subbed for Jack Garver in the 880 event. Garver was forced out when he pulled up lame in the 100-yard dash. He held a two-stride lead at the time but had to leave the track. Ballinger came in fourth in that event.

Redlegs Kick Away Game With Cards

Four Cincinnati Errors Shove Team Deeper Into Cellar

CINCINNATI (AP)—Like a much-repaired garden hose, you never can tell with the Cincinnati baseball club where the next leak is going to come.

Friday night it was a pure and simple case of too many thumbs that cost the Redlegs a 5-3 decision to St. Louis in the first game the Cardinals have played here this season. It marked Cincinnati's 11th setback in 14 outings and cemented them more solidly than ever in last place.

The defeat was a bitter blow for lefty Harry Perkowski, who had hoped to improve his 1-1 slate. Perkowski walked four and yielded six hits during his 5 2-3 innings, but had also struck out four and given up only one earned run. He was yanked as the Cardinals bulled through with three runs—all unearned—in the sixth frame.

Gus Bell rifled his fifth homer into the rightfield bleachers in the first inning after Bob Marquis and Bobby Adams went out, and Ted Kluszewski followed with another homer, also his fifth.

In the fourth Enos Slaughter singled with one down, stopped at second on Steve Bilko's single, and scored on Rip Repulski's hit.

The Redleg defense gave way in the sixth and with it went the ball game.

Repulski touched off the fireworks with a one-out double. Del Rice flied, but Grant Dunlap, batting for pitcher Gerry Staley, reached first when Roy McMillan bobbled his grounder. Solly Hemus followed with a single to left and when Bell allowed the ball to get through him, Repulski and Dunlap scored. Eddie Erautt relieved Perkowski and gave up a run-producing two - bagger to Red Schoendienst before getting the side out.

The Cardinals scored another run in the seventh on a hit batsman, a sacrifice and a single and Marquis added the Redlegs' last tally in the ninth on his solo homer.

COUPLE OF HEARTY HEAVYWEIGHTS. Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano (left) and the challenger Joe Walcott, whom Marciano beat for the title, listen to each other's heart beats during one phase of their physical exams at Chicago in the offices of the Illinois Athletic Commission. The two will meet May 15 at the Chicago Stadium in a 15-round title bout.

Seven Schools Withdraw From Conference Setup

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—The 17-member Southern Conference, largest of the nation's major collegiate athletic groups, is no more.

Seven schools, representing most of the actual athletic prowess of the circuit, pulled out in a momentous session here yesterday and will meet in Raleigh, N. C., Sunday, June 14, to make plans for their own conference, as yet unnamed.

The remaining 10 schools will gather in Roanoke, Va., June 26-27 to plan their future.

Withdrawing were North Carolina, Duke, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, Maryland, South Carolina and Clemson.

Remaining as the Southern Con-

Meanwhile, the annual golf, baseball, tennis and track championships for all 17 schools, scheduled for next week end, will go on as scheduled.

The new group would like to operate as an eight team unit. Mentioned prominently as the possible eighth team was Virginia, which left the conference over a decade ago. Virginia officials were not in attendance here, but Gus Tebell, the school's athletic director, said at Charlottesville, Va., that he believed Virginia would "consider seriously" joining the new conference, if invited.

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State University placed its one-platoon football team on display today in a regulation game winding up spring practice.

The annual intra - squad full length preview, scheduled at 2:30 p. m. in the Stadium, was expected to attract about 15,000 fans, including more than 600 of the state's high school coaches.

The scholastic mentors heard all members of the Ohio staff, headed by Woody Hayes, outline the Buckeye grid system in Friday's clinic sessions. Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech and two of his aides made up this morning's faculty.

Dodd, working on a 26-game unbeaten streak, delved deeply into his series of sweep plays and pass offense.

Ohio State was host at a banquet for the high school mentors.

The Ohio High School Coaches Association, at its annual session prior to the feat, named Charles (Chuck) Mather of Massillon its new president, and George Vlerebome of Zanesville, vice president. Mather, who has piloted his Tigers to the state championship the last five years—and who has been named "Coach of the Year" three of the five seasons—succeeds Mac Pemberton of Columbus West at the helm of the association which has some 700 members.

The board of directors of the association postponed action on the applications of Dayton and Springfield as sites for the 1954 All-Star North-South grid game. Each city will be asked to submit a list of its advantages, after which a mail vote of the 16 directors will be taken.

Eight new directors, from the even - numbered districts, were named by the scholastic group. Those named and their alternates in parenthesis were:

District 2, Jeff Dehaven of Sandusky (Dick Small of Fostoria); 4, Pete Lanzi of Youngstown East (Jack Cramb of Youngstown

Claridon Runner-up In County Track Meeting

Morral High School copped its fourth straight Marion County track title Friday afternoon at Harding Stadium with an impressive margin over the other 10 schools in the county.

Prospect's 880 relay team hit a new record with a time of 1:46.5. It eclipsed the old mark of 1:52.3 set in 1942 by Waldo. Gix, Emery, Isler and Rodgers were members of the team.

Bob Rodgers of Prospect also set a record in the discus with a heave of 108-9½. Somerlot of Pleasant set the old record in 1942 at 103-10½.

Tom Bender, Fostoria athletic director, presented Harding with the Buckeye League trophy and Somerlot's crew retired the Ohio Oil Company's trophy, having won it for the third time.

It took eight hours of seemingly endless closed meetings of both factions and considerable delicate maneuvering to accomplish the long-rumored split of the ungainly circuit which had embraced five states and the District of Columbia. Better schedules, with each member meeting each other conference rival, will result.

the day-long negotiations concerned finances and the fate of the office of Commissioner Wallace Wade.

The delicate situation was resolved amicably with the seven schools' pulling out waiving any claims to the approximately $150,000 in the conference treasury. The 10 schools remaining will assume all assets and liabilities. In addition, Wade's office will serve the "seceding seven" as well as the remaining 10 schools until Jan. 1, 1955, when his four-year contract with the conference expires.

Red Sox Win, 2-1

Gernert, Goodman Belt Homers To Whip Yanks; Phils Lose 2-Run Lead

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

Now that they've got the place to themselves those upstart Red Sox are creating quite a furor up in Boston, and they are giving the rest of the American League fits in the process.

Lou Boudreau's youth brigade figured to be at least a year or two away from being troublesome to the pennant contenders. But just look at the kids. They have won eight of their last 10 games and they are only a game and a half out of first place.

Fresh from a highly successful jaunt through the West the Sox came home last night and to the delight of a fine crowd of 33,055 fans grabbed a spectacular 2-1 verdict from the New York Yankees, their first success against the World Champions in 13 starts.

Billy Goodman, one of the few faces Boston fans can recognize in the rejuvenated lieup, belted a foul-line hugging homer over the right field wall with one out in the 11th inning to give Hector (Skinny) Brown the decision over Johnny Sain. Boston's other run also was a homer—Dick Gernert's fifth of the year.

Brown, a North Carolina right-hander, handcuffed the Yankees on seven singles, struck out five and walked only one man.

The Cleveland Indians, sandwiched in between the Yankees and the Red Sox, pulled within three percentage points of the New Yorkers by whipping the stubborn St. Louis Browns, 7-4. Washington rallied in the closing innings to down Philadelphia, 10-7, and Chicago turned back Detroit, 7-2, in other American League action.

A near capacity crowd of 30,293 turned out for Milwaukee's first major league night game and came away happy as the Braves bested the Chicago Cubs, 2-0, on Johnny Antonelli's four-hit pitching. The St. Louis Cardinals defeated Cincinati, 5-3, in the only other National game that finished.

Philadelphia scored two quick runs against Brooklyn in a battle for first place in the National League but a spring thunderstorm that struck as the Dodgers came to bat in the first washed out the contest. The rain moved on north to the Polo Grounds and also halted the New York-Pittsburgh contest after an inning and a half. It was scoreless.

The Braves' victory kept their record perfect in their new Milwaukee home where, because of bad weather, they have been able to play only three games.

Speedway Set For First Night Session

With the weatherman promising complete cooperation, local fans are looking forward to a fine program of stock car racing at the Marion Speedway Sunday night. Time trials get under way at 7:30 and the races at 8:30.

Dude Grice will be out to win his second successive feature and is expecting a strong challenge from several of Marion's top drivers, as well as others who will be rolling their cars in from points as far away as Fremont, Mansfield, Dover, New Philadelphia, Kenton and Bucyrus. Bill Krohmer, Eddie Fridley and Paul Hooper, all of Marion, are expected to give Grice a run for his money, as each has made a few mechanical changes in their cars and have pronounced them in fine shape.

The track is expected to be in fine shape. Better weather has given Promoter Cecil Addams and his staff an opportunity to spend more time working on track conditions.

Racing is being inaugurated under the lights this week in order to attract more and better cars. A lot of the area's top drivers are driving at other points Sunday afternoons, and have promised to be here for the Sunday night races.

Chicago Fans Ho-Humming Title Fight

Ticket Buying Slow For Marciano And Walcott Scrap

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—A week from tonight the heavyweight championship of the world is to be contested in Chicago Stadium, barring another postponement, and you would hardly know it around this ghost town of the fight game.

The once bustling offices of the International Boxing Club are deserted except for a few older employes who have nowhere else to go. Now and then a couple of ancient managers, left behind at the ebb of the tide, drop in and recall the good old days of last June when New York saw a title fight between Ray Robinson and Joey Maxim.

For some reason—and we might as well blame this on television, too—there is a great apathy here about the return meeting of Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott. There has been no ticket sale here worth mentioning, whereas $30,000 was taken in at the local IBC box-office for their first fight at Philadelphia last summer.

Up to now exactly one fan, trying hard to fill an awkward pause in the small talk, has asked me how I thought it would come out. He didn't wait for an answer, but said he thought, personally, that the young guy, Marciano, would "do it quick this time." He said that was what Rocky's manager, Al Weill, had told him, and that Al was plenty smart.

Probably it is this attitude, a widespread belief that the powerful young champion will chill his 40-year-old adversary in a hurry, that has dampened interest locally. Joe Louis, who experienced first hand the opiate in Marciano's fists, said between his tap dancing turns at a local theatre that he believed Walcott's legs finally had gone and that Rocky would bag him much sooner than the 13th round this time. People still listen to Joe, even after catching his act.

According to word brought east this week by Truman Gibson, the IBC's Chicago manager, things are looking some better out there than they did before Rocky's bleeding nose caused the bout to be postponed from its original date, April

Ninth Inning Rally Gives Cleveland 7-4 Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP)—For the first time this young season, the Cleveland Indians won a ball game in the ninth inning.

There were other season "firsts" for the Tribe in its 7-4 conquest of the St. Louis Browns Friday night—a struggle that lacked just six minutes of three hours.

Jim Lemon, rookie outfielder, drew his first walk of the season in the ninth to put the tying run on base with two out.

Barney McCosky, who had failed to connect in three previous games as a pinch hitter, got his first 1953 hit in the Indians' four-run final inning rally. It was a two-run double, following walks to Lemon and Bob Avila.

Rookie southpaw Al Aber, a Cleveland boy, posted his first victory of the season in relief for Early Wynn. He replaced Wynn when the Browns broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth on Jim Dyck's squeeze bunt after Harry Brecheen and Bobby Young had singled. Wynn threw wide to the plate after fielding the bunt. Aber pitched to only two men—Vic Wertz, who fouled out, and Bob Elliott who flied.

Until their big ninth, the Indians never were in front, but after McCosky's double gave them a 5-4 lead, Dale Mitchell greeted reliefer Marlin Stuart with a homer that provided two insurance tallies. The Tribe's Bob Hooper put the Browns down 1-2-3 in the last half of the ninth, continuing the good work by Aber.

In the fourth St. Louis' Dick Kryhoski doubled, advanced on Bill Hunter's bunt past the mound, and scored on Johnny Groth's fly.

The Indians came back in the fifth to tie the game with a run off Don Larsen, the rookie right-hander who started for the Browns. Singles by Ray Boone and Jim Hegan, Wynn's sacrifice and a long fly by Avila did the trick.

St. Louis went ahead 3-1 in its turn at bat on a walk, a single by Elliott, Kryhoski's single—which Harry Simpson fumbled, permitting Elliott to take third—and Les Moss' fly.

Larry Doby clouted his fourth homer of the season in the sixth and drove in the tying run in the eighth with a double off Brecheen. With two out, Larsen had yielded singles to Mitchell and Al Rosen and Brecheen was called in to pitch to Doby.

The Indians and Browns meet field for St. Louis each will be seeking a third triumph against one defeat.

10. More than $300,000 is in the till, and it is estimated now that the gate will go over $500,000, not counting the TV fee. This is a long way from the $850,000 figure which was kicked around when the bout was originally assigned to Chicago, but it is better than starving to death, too.

The postponement proved fortunate for the promoters. By coincidence, they discovered almost at the very hour that Marciano's nose began bleeding that Chicago fans were not buying tickets in the anticipated quantities, and that they were sore about the way the advance sale was being handled. They appear to have been gentled.

Looking back, it might have been that the original date was too soon after the Chicago sports had practically torn the Stadium apart in February trying to get in to see their boy Chuck Davey fight Kid Gavilan. A sucker needs a suitable period in which to cool off before he tackles the game again.

Sends Mother's Day Corsage From Hawaii

Mrs. Angela Sobas of near New Bloomington was taken by surprise about 10 a.m. Friday by a Mother's Day gift sent to her by her sailor son.

Walter Peter Sobas Jr. serving in the Pacific aboard a naval transport ship sent his mother a corsage of five lavender and white orchids by air-mail special delivery direct from Hawaii.

Post-marked May 5, the corsage arrived in good condition, Mrs. Sobas said, and is "just beautiful." A 1951 graduate of LaRue School, Walter went into the Navy in July of the same year.

Her leg was broken when her bridegroom, Test Pilot Jim Brooks, fell while carrying her in his arms. Brooks, who married Miss Tilton in Las Vegas, Nev., explained it thus: "My feet somehow got tangled up and the next thing I knew Martha was lying unceremoniously on the ground with a broken leg. It's really pretty embarrassing."

Quick Way of Fixing Garage Door

While most modern garages are equipped with overhead doors of many varieties, most of the houses built more than 10 or 15 years ago have detached garages and they are equipped with swinging doors of the type illustrated. Any one owning such a garage is aware of the fact that the doors, no matter how well built in the first place, gradually sag with age until they scrape on the floor, making it difficult to open or close them tightly, and gradually working up a deep groove on the garage floor. Naturally, with continued pulling and pushing, the entire door assembly becomes loosened.

Many homeowners take care of this problem by sawing off an inch or so of the lower edge of the door at the off-hinge corners, but that is a most unprofessional and unethical piece of carpentry. This is particularly so when the correct and sound cure for the problem is much more simple and much less actual work. A glance at the illustration tells the story better than words.

The proper manner in which to remedy a sagging door is to close it completely and drive wedges beneath the off-hinge corners until the bottom is jacked up where it belongs. The next step is to cut two lengths of one-inch by six-inch wood strips and screw them solidly and diagonally across the door as shown. Nails are liable to pull out to some degree when the strain is returned by pulling out the wedges, but screws are in there solidly. The lower end of the braces should be set securely into the side member of the door which is attached to the hinges and the upper end of the brace should be screwed into the top horizontal member of the door.

Along with the above bracing action, the hinges should be tightened securely, and if the screws seem loose in the wood the hinges should be reset in a new location

CITY FINANCES LOW

UHRICHSVILLE, O. (AP)—With its treasury almost depleted, Uhrichsville is going to lay off two policemen June 1 and keep its park closed all summer. Last March, the city got an advance on real estate taxes from Tuscarawas County to meet its payroll. Mayor George Creager said the layoffs would save about $3,500. The park cost $1,837 to run last summer.

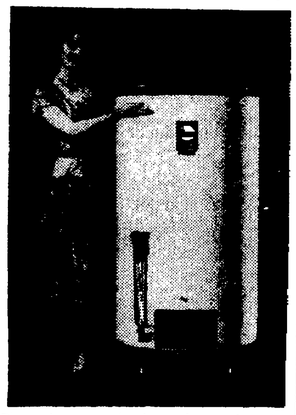
New! Low-Cost Answer To Local Corrosion!

AMAZING RUSTPROOF RHEEM "COPPERMATIC" WATER HEATER HERE!

New England homeowners can now own an automatic storage gas water heater that will not rust or fail from early corrosion. A tank of pure copper inside a tank of solid steel!

This new Rheem "Coppermatic" heater cannot rust — and withstands natural water corrosion many times longer than previous heaters. By longer service and heating efficiency, it will cut total water heating costs dramatically.



Rheem's capsule-shaped steel and copper tanks are "pressure-proved" to more than double normal operating pressures. This shape, plus multiple flues, gives far more heating area.

Copper is Ageless

Thin copper sheeting on the Statue of Liberty has resisted the weather of New York Harbor since 1885! Copper pipe remains usable after thousands of years! Rheem's complete inner tank is pure, rustless copper.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

A GOOD WAY to break your neck while staying "safe at home" is to try to fix things yourself on rickety ladder, or by leaning out of an upstairs window, or by getting bored with all the "don'ts" the accident - prevention people think up.

Home has often been called one of the most dangerous places, but it is surprising the number of people who brush off this thought as lightly as whisking off a bug. It seems that preventing accidents is uninteresting. It would be so much more exciting to know how to cause them.

So here are some tried and tested tips on how to hurt yourself plenty right in your own home. These tips will enable you to use your hospitalization plan and some will give your dependents lump sum payments from your life insurance.

These are very sound tips, because they killed off more than 28,000 persons in the past year and injured more than 4 million. In fact, they are so effective that they have prompted the National Association of Home Builders to try to spoil this gruesome sport by urging its members to build more accident-free homes this year.

"How many people met accidental death or suffered injury in homes that you built last year?" the association asked its members. Then its Design and Construction Committee enumerated safety measures which catch the imagination better when we turn them around.

So here's how:

BANG YOURSELF up in the bedroom. This doesn't have to be the safe place it seems. Design this room and place its furniture so there can't be a straight unimpeded path between door and bed and you'll have lots of excitement. Place your electrical outlets as far as possible from beds, lamps, heating pads or electric blankets and you'll have cords galore to trip over. Never provide any fire refuge for upper floor bedrooms.

Skimp on your closets and other storage space so you'll have thousands of items to obstruct halls, floors and stairs. Place no lights in closets—try matches or candles, instead. And be sure to have closet shelves, hooks and rods of the flimsiest type—when they break, they'll most likely connect with your eye.

And for upstairs window, you will find that window sills less than 30 inches from the floor are very thrilling. When a window sticks slightly, then gives way quickly, you can lose your balance and take a header. It's silly to have windows that can be cleaned from the inside because it's much easier to fall when sitting out on the sill. And grilles across the windows of a nursery or bedrooms for teetery older people only cage persons in.

BATHROOMS can be enlivened considerably by never placing sturdy grab bars above the tub and in the shower. Electric light switches near the bathtub or lavatory are much more clever than an electric chair, especially when you have a wet hand. And for a real back breaker, try a slippery bathroom floor.

Among the more refined ways to fracture vertebrae are by using stairs. Winding stairs and any stairs without handrails, lacking and for an added hazard let the ceiling hang down less than 6 feet, 8 inches above the stairs or steps to catch the unwary. Or plan your upstairs bathroom where anyone approaching it from a bedroom in the dark will pass the stairs and possibly pitch down.

IF THESE PERILS sound too tame, try the subtle contrivance of inadequate electrical wiring. This carries a higher guarantee for mishaps, because 70 per cent of all house casualties are falls and collisions with objects and many of these can be caused by poor lighting. Improper wiring or faulty fixtures also open up the way for more shocks and burns. String as many cords as possible to every electric outlet. If the fuse fails, use a heavier fuse until you burn the house down.

But of course, you can get the best accident batting average of all in the kitchen. "Statistics say this is the most dangerous room in the house," the builders were told. You can keep it that way by cluttering the work aisle, compelling the housewife to pivot in her steps on a slippery floor, make it easy to get burned at the stove, and have cabinet doors that open where they can gouge anybody's scalp.

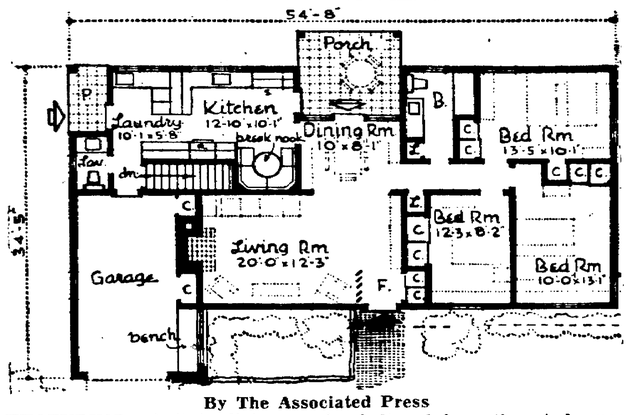
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

FEATURING a built-in dining porch, sheltered from the wind, open to a garden view, this one-story house is marked by smart planning throughout. Lavatory adjacent to kitchen, service entry and garage; main floor laundry; workbench in garage; breakfast nook; window walls in living room and dining room, and an abundance of closets distinguish the layout. This is Plan 319-T by Edward R. Tyler, 586 Macon Place, Uniondale, N.Y. The house covers 1,320 square feet, without porches and garage, which figure at lowest estimating rates.

(Further information and plans available from architect)

CITES FUND SHORTAGE

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—State Highway Director S. O. Linzell says Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Akron won't get any state money this year for resurfacing streets which are state routes. He said, in a letter to those cities, that the state only can fulfill its commitments to them, to pay half of the cost of expressway construction. "we're simply trying to spread limited funds over a bigger area," he explained.

Linoleum on Cellar Floor

Q: Some time ago, I put waterglass on my concrete floor in the cellar to lay the dust. Now I would like to cover the floor with linoleum. Is this a practical idea?

A: Linoleum should not be laid in direct contact with such a floor, because dampness may seep through from the ground, which will react adversely on linoleum. The only material of this type which should be laid directly on concrete is asphalt tile.

Baldwin-Wallace Athletes Charged With Larceny

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three Baldwin-Wallace College athletes, including two who college authorities say like to gamble and wear flashy clothes, have been charged with petty larceny for thefts on the nearby Berea campus.

They are John H. Holmes, 19, of Rayland in Jefferson County, a varsity halfback; Albert L. Merriwether, 22, of Newark, a substitute football player; and Charles E. Feeman, 20, of Akron, who played on the reserve basketball team.

Police Chief A. L. Yanke of Berea said the three admitted they took cooked chickens, hams and other foods from the food service center in Centennial Hall.

The chief said Holmes and Feeman also were questioned about several minor thefts from fellow students. The college reported a stolen typewriter was found in Feeman's room, and a missing watch in Holmes' room. The youths said they found the items.

M. Schefel Pierce, dean of men at the Methodist college, said Holmes and Feeman "liked to wear expensive clothes and they liked to gamble, although it usually was with one another."

He said both of them were behind in their college payments.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

DORIS DAY AND GORDON MACRAE cuddle up in a scene from their newest technicolor musical comedy, "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," which is the current attraction at the Ohio Theater. It will play through Wednesday.

Doris Day, MacRae Star in Ohio Movie

"By The Light Of The Silvery Moon," a musical in technicolor with Doris Day and Gordon MacRea in the starring roles, currently is playing through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater.

The story centers about the romantic trials of a young couple in a small town, and the antics of a typical kid brother. It is concerned with the Winfield family, with the parents being confronted by the problems of their pretty daughter who is quite a tomboy, and whose fiance has strange ideas about marriage which almost make strangers of the lovers.

Thursday only, on the stage will be the Hempleman Dance Revue, with one show at 8:20 p.m. On the screen will be the musical, "There's A Girl in My Heart," starring Lee Bowman, Elyse Knox, Gloria Jean and Peggy Ryan.

The story in the film deals with the attempts of Bowman and Lon Chaney, neighborhood politician and music hall manager, respectively, to acquire the hall and other properties within the block, tear them down and erect a sports arena. But they hit a stumbling block when a widow comes upon the scene and announces she will operate the hall which had belonged to her husband.

Starting Friday, the billing will be three films, "The Tall Texan" starring Lloyd Bridges, Lee J. Cobb, Marie Windsor and Luther Adler, "I'll Get You," featuring George Raft and Sally Gray, and a 3-dimension novelty, "A Day in the Country."

In "The Tall Texan," Bridges is cast as an escaped convict being returned to prison, who joins a party seeking gold near Indian burial grounds. When members of the party invade the sacred tribal area, the wrath of the Indians is brought down on the party in a furious battle.

"Never Let Me Go" Playing at Palace

"Never Let Me Go," romantic adventure drama co-starring Clark Gable and Gene Tierney, currently is playing through Wednesday at the Palace Theater.

It unfolds the story of an American correspondent in Russia who falls in love with and marries a Russian ballet dancer. However, when he attempts to take his wife out of the country the sinister workings behind the Iron Curtain interfere and the correspondent is forced to leave Russia alone.

He sets out on an adventure to rescue his young bride, a plot entailing a perilous sea voyage in a small boat and a battle of wits with the Russian spy system.

Billed for Thursday through Saturday is a double feature, "Tropic Zone," technicolor adventure film starring Ronald Reagan, Rhonda Fleming and Estelita, and "The Girls of Pleasure Island," also in technicolor. It stars Leo Genn and Don Taylor, with Gene Barry and Elsa Lanchester.

The story in "Tropic Zone" recounts the activities of people who gain their livelihood from banana producing plantations. Ronald Reagan as a two-fisted soldier of fortune comes to the aid of Rhonda Fleming, who as the largest independent plantation owner in the area is being forced into bankruptcy by a group attempting to corner the banana market.

"The Girls of Pleasure Island" tells what happens when fifteen hundred Marines arrive on a remote South Pacific island exclusively inhabitated by three beautiful young girls, who never have seen a man of their own age, and their strict father.

SCENE OF AN INGENIOUS BANK robbery shown above is from the new film, "Kansas City Confidential,' which opens Wednesday at the North Drive-In Theater, to play through Saturday. Starred are John Payne and Coleen Gray.

A first run film showing Wednesday through Saturday will be "Kansas City Confidential," exciting story about a million-dollar traces the flight of the gang from midwestern United States to Mexico and Central America. John Payne, in the role of a delivery man for a florist shop, becomes implicated in the crime and sets out to clear himself by finding the real thieves, a task which completely baffles the police.

They become involved in an international espionage ring while supposedly enjoying a Parisian vacation.

The Ferguson System was introduced in this Country in 1939.
Most tractors then had drawbars. Three-point hook-up. Finger-tip control and Linkage were all new terms.
Many people told you THEN that this System wouldn't work.
Today their story is quite different. Who can you believe?
Dollar for Dollar—Hook-up for Hook-up—Hydraulic for Hydraulic none can compare with the genuine original Ferguson System.
There are many FOLLOWERS but only ONE LEADER.
Be fair to yourself — Try the powerful Ferguson "30" with the genuine Ferguson hydraulic System on your own farm. You'll see the difference. No obligation.

he weighs or how old he is. But the fellows at the Yacht Club are willing to give odds that he'll top the catfish record of 225 pounds, and people who have seen or hooked him won't dispute the point.

Caillouet, a 46-year-old tourist court operator, has caught a catfish weighing 165 pounds and he seldom ventures onto the Mississippi without bringing in 300 or more pounds. He doesn't use a pole when he goes fishing. He uses jugs and has concoted a sauce guaranteed to be irristible to the big boys when bait is dipped in it.

Juggin for catfish means simply the fisherman uses an empty, capped jug instead of a pole. He ties his hook and line to it and, after baiting it with raw meat dipped in the sauce, throws it out to sweep through the channels where deep and swift waters make conventionsl fishing impossible.

Drying up of the Washington D.C. area has so lowered the level of the Potomac, that areas which once were anchorages for big ships now are dry land.

Now, 15 months later, Bruce has a plywood clock that weighs 250 pounds, is wound with a crank and rope and keeps the proper "hairspring" tension with an 80-pound weight.

Bruce said that he just decided to keep going, and ended up with the complete works for a clock. Only a few parts are not made of wood—such as "jewels" which once were glass watch crystals, a hair-spring which was the mainspring of an eight-day clock, and a bottle on which the handshaft pivots.

When he turns the crank and a rope and winch lift the weight, Bruce gives the clock enough power to run for eight hours.
